

Polarlights Analysis

Polar lights segmented into 20 colors over 5 iterations.

The images are fairly similar showing the roughly roughly convergent nature of the EM algorithm. However, each iteration has points for each cluster centers resulting in slightly different clusters. This is easily observable from the slight changes in cluster color and cluster boundaries between images.

